PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

BE A SHIP THAT NEVER SINKS

An unknown author said "ships don't sink because of the water around them, ships sink because of the water that gets in them. Don't let what happens around you to get inside and bring you down."

Human beings are often challenged by the situations around them, like family, peers, friends and the society in general. Though we cannot be fully immune to these challenges, how we face and address them makes a big difference in the way we come out of these situations. It is true that most of the people come out successfully facing these challenges but some fail because they let these challenges get inside of them and disturb their balance, peace and strength. If we let bad things to get inside our system, thinking and habits, they will bring the person down. True education prepares a person to sail through the challenges and control the influence of the bad things of life.
