Report on Anthyakshari

Organized by: Music Club, De Paul College

Date: 15th October 2024

Venue: Deaudi, De Paul College

Participants: Students from various departments

Introduction

On 15th October 2024, the Music Club of De Paul College, Deaudi, organized an Anthyakshari (Music Competition) to promote musical talent, teamwork, and cultural enthusiasm among students. Anthyakshari, a popular Indian musical game, tests participants' knowledge of songs and their ability to recall and perform them creatively.

Event Highlights

- Welcome and Briefing:
The event commenced with a welcome address by the Music Club coordinator, who explained the rules and format of the competition. Participants were briefed on the importance of teamwork, quick thinking, and musical knowledge.
- Team Formation:
Students formed teams, each typically consisting of three members, as per common Anthyakshari guidelines. The competition was open to all students, encouraging wide participation.
- Competition Rounds:
 - Round 1 – Traditional Anthyakshari:
Teams took turns singing songs that began with the last letter of the previous team's song. At least the first two lines of each song were to be sung, and no repeated songs were allowed.
 - Round 2 – Word Round:
Each team was given a word, and had to sing a song containing that word in the first few lines, testing their recall and creativity.
 - Round 3 – Audio/Visual Round:
Teams identified songs from brief audio clips or visual cues, further challenging their musical knowledge.
- Judging Criteria:
A panel of judges evaluated performances based on accuracy, creativity, teamwork, and adherence to the rules. Points were awarded for each correct song and for the overall presentation.
- Atmosphere:
The event was lively, with enthusiastic participation from both competitors and the audience. The competitive spirit was balanced by a supportive and joyful environment.

- Prize Distribution:

The winning team was awarded certificates and prizes in a brief ceremony. All participants were recognized for their efforts and enthusiasm.

Conclusion

The Anthyakshari organized by the Music Club was a resounding success, fostering a spirit of camaraderie and musical appreciation among students. The event not only showcased the students' musical talents but also provided a platform for fun, learning, and cultural exchange within the college community.
